REVIEW '65

Late in the first term of last year Loyola was shaken by an immeasurable loss. Professor Frank Guadagni, Associate Professor in the Faculty of Engineering, died suddenly. To the man and the teacher Review '65 is respectfully dedicated.

Frank Guadagni was born in Florence, Italy, and came to Canada with his family as a young boy. He attended Catholic High then McGill University, from which he graduated in 1937 in Metallurgical Engineering with highest honors and the Governor-General's medal. He worked in industry for five years and then joined the teaching staff at Loyola in 1942. Professor Guadagni was largely responsible for the establishment of an Engineering Faculty at Loyola. He was the first Professor of Engineering, and from 1942 until 1959, the only one. Besides building up the Engineering Faculty, he taught several Chemistry courses and Extension courses.

Professor Guadagni was a dedicated teacher whose interest in his subject permeated to his pupils. "He was a teacher in the fullest sense of the word, he was for the students one hundred percent." His theoretical and practical knowledge and his charming manner of presentation made his classes lively and rarely cut. The atmosphere in the classroom was informal. He himself wore very casual clothes and lighthearted jokes were no strangers to his classes. He was gifted with keen perception and unexcelled ability to recognize a student's problem and to help him solve it. "The Professor always had a minute to spare for a student, he was always willing to help and to give advice about his career or studies." Guadagni the man was inseparable from Guadagni the teacher.

Professor Guadagni was not only looked upon as a teacher, but also as a friend. There was a personal relationship between himself and his pupils, he saw the career of each one as his own responsibility. He devoted many hours of his time to giving private tutorials complete with discussion and explanation. He spoke to the students on their own terms and always welcomed their questions. "He was just one of the boys, he'd sit down and chat with you about anything, and help you iron out any difficulty you might have."

Professor Guadagni evoked admiration and love not only from his pupils, but from all who knew him. His sudden death last year brought an end to the life of a good father, an invaluable professor and a close friend.

PRESIDENT

May 1, 1965.

Dear Graduates of 1965:

As I look back over these four years, I cannot help thinking that they have sped by. Perhaps, in your estimation, the pace was far too deliberate - though I do hope that, even for your impatience, it proved too short for all that you had resolved to do. But if you are conscious of college's tempo as overly serene and deliberate, you may merely be saying, in youth's idiom, that you are young.

Youth somehow has become universally important as an element in contemporary society. And rightly so, if we look to the responsibilities that have been thrust on youth to carry out the cosmic decisions of peace and war. But youth has also become important in its own eyes, assuming the prerogative of judging all by standards that it devises and controls. And this too should be welcome to anyone who knows that a society can neither grow nor survive without constant access of new, untapped energies. Where else except from inquiring energetic young spirits can we derive boldness to draw patterns of social justice in a complacent tired community, or convert what has been dismissed as idealism into the reality of tomorrow?

It may well be that you shall fail, as we before have failed, to make a world that is, in any truly visible way better. But if you have learned at Loyola not just schooling but true learning and love for learning; if you begin to suspect that protest about our world must glide into responsibility for it; and if you make solidarity with all men and women not just a tactical device but a way of life, you will have, I confess, no guarantee of visible improvement in the world. But you will have satisfying assurance that you have helped set the stage for the betterment that will surely come in God's good time - if always you know what to build before you destroy.

May God bless you in the task ahead. You go with our pride, and our abiding good wishes.

Yours sincerely,

Patrick G. Malone, S.J.

JOHN XXIII HOUSE

On the edge of Loyola's campus there is yet another stronghold of Loyola students, the John XXIII House. It is here that the students, under the direction of Fr. McCormick (fondly known as the "Flying Irishman"), pursue two definite purposes. The first, being to acquaint students with Diocesan projects and movements available to the Laity, and also to encourage their participation now and after graduation in the Lay Apostolate. Secondly, it boasts a program to encourage vocations to the Diocesan Priesthood for the English-speaking community of the Archdiocese of Montreal.

The Lounge

Fr. McCormick and students at mass.

At the same time all students at John XXIII are encouraged to take part in the athletic and social activities on the campus.

The atmosphere of the House is both pleasant and friendly but perhaps as a guest one should ponder at length on Fr. Mc-Cormick's parting remark, "Open your wallet and say unto me, help thyself!"

Freshman Week . . . Car Wash

The top Jerry, the top! It's our only chance.

At the beginning of every scholarship year Loyola is swept with the sight and sound of the incoming horde. They are a young and innocent group, unwise and unknowing to the many in's and out's of college life. But they are a hardy group and quickly steel themselves to what the coniving upper classmen have in store for them. They are the freshmen and more recently the freshettes of Loyola, and as many before them and as many to follow, they shall quickly grasp the tempo of college life becoming an integral part of it.

There is however a phase that all most go through, "FRESHMAN WEEK". There is the registration to take care of, and the bewildering array of books to be purchased but once this is out of the way there are the many get acquainted dances, the debates, initiation, the crowning of the queen and of course the good clean fun of the car wash.

By this time the once freshmen have become the world wise sophomores. It is now their turn to cast disparaging looks at the incoming masses and ask themselves if they too could have been, at one time, members of such a motley group.

And now we shake dry.

WINTER

The Carnival Committee.

Carnival '65, from January 27th to 30th, was a big success this year under the chairmanship of Evan Black.

The opening event saw the hockey Warriors hosting CMR in an exciting game, followed by a 'Lumber Jack' Dance in the parking lot. The official opening ceremonies were held the next night, including the crowning of Miss Ann Carrigan as Carnival Queen and the judging of the ice sculptures. An informal dance at the Chalet on Mount Royal, featuring

CARNIVAL

Nat Raider's Dixieland band and another group, concluded the evening.

Friday was ski day up north at Sun Valley. Also included in Friday's events were a car rally, which no one was able to successfully complete, and a concert at St. Denis Theatre, with the Four Preps and a student fashion show.

The Winter Carnival came to an end with the 'Sno-Ball', a semi-formal dance at the Windsor Hotel.

DRAMA

SAYS JAMES ...

"That old cliche, the search for identity, is a many faceted and disturbing event. We see tonight, on our stage-universe, a growing man looking for this identity seeking to establish his name in the anonymous cosmos. He is whirled in the perplexing chaos that results when the subjective world meets the objective, reality threatens him like an old grizzly, but at the same time gives him the power to unify the warring elements inside his own personality, and to emerge finally from the destructive forces generated by these areas of his character. In this quest for significance, certain losses must be faced; innocence is shattered, and a more demanding life is ahead."

"But a man must seek the meaning of his complete past; therefore, he establishes connection not only with his own private history, but with the history of us all; he confronts not only his own parents, but the parents of our age and of the world. Eventually, the drama is played out against the stars, under the masks of confusion and creation. Fool chases bear, bear chases fool; no reconciliation seems in view."

VARSITY FOOTBALL

The football Warriors opened their 1964 schedule on a winning note by downing a spirited Carleton Ravens squad 24-14. Quarterback Bernie Young completed 14 of 37 passes for over 350 yards and 4 touch-downs. Halfback Paul St. George scored 3 majors, latching onto six Young passes for a total of 172 yards. The defense, lead by captain John McCallum, were very impressive in the win. The next week the Warriors went down to defeat at the hands of the powerful Ottawa Gee Gees 39-6. Despite what the score indicates, the defense lead by Dave McIninch, played another strong game. In the "mud bowl" the following week, missed chances were Loyola's undoing as they dropped a 21-6 decision to McMaster. Edmundo Perrotta scored Loyola's only major. Loyola evened its record by defeating the O.A.C. Redmen 19-10 at Quelch. Once again "Big Bear" Young lead the Warriors, passing to Wayne Commeford for one touchdown and scoring on a 2 yard plunge. Successive wins over Waterloo, R.M.C., and the Lutherans enabled Lovola to end the season with a 5-2 record. And again it was the golden arm of Bernie Young who threw for over 600 yards in the last 3 games. Wayne Commeford came into his own, hauling in 6 touchdown passes and raising his season total to eight, the top scorer on the team and third in the league. Young secured the league passing title with Commeford and St. George being one-two respectively in pass receptions. Loyola ended the season in a first place tie with Ottawa University in the Western Division of the Ottawa - St. Lawrence and a respectable third in the Ontario Intercollegiate Conference. Congratulations on a fine season.

VARSITY SOCCER

The soccer eleven culminated their 1964 season with a well-earned 3-2 victory over Bishop's. The victory gave the Warriors third place in the O.S.L. with a record of four wins, three losses and a tie in eight games. Sir George Williams University won undisputed possession of the O.S.L. championship as they finished the schedule without a loss. R.M.C. finished second ahead of Loyola. In their encounters with the two top teams, a spirited Warrior contingent tied R.M.C. 1-1, but came out on the long end of the rope 2-0 against Sir George. For five veterans of the Loyola soccer squad, the victory over Bishop's was the last game they will play in Maroon and White. Defensive stalwarts Tubomyr Mykytiuk, Henry Wong, Noel de Silva, goaler Udo Buechner, and forwards Alan Tam and Trevor Summers-Loyola's Most Valuable Player, will graduate this spring and their absence will certainly be felt next season.

VARSITY TENNIS

Loyola's rookie - studded Varsity Tennis squad placed a disappointing fourth in the O.S.L. finals held in Sherbrooke this year. The Warriors caused an upset of sorts in qualifying for the finals the week before. The team was actually tied with Sir George, but was given a berth in the finals as it beat the Georgians twice in the three matches they played. The Warriors managed to earn only two points in the round-robin meet, both wins coming at the hands of third-place R.M.C. Loyola's two hard-fought victories over R.M.C. were due to the fine playing of Don Davies in the "A" singles and the newly formed doubles team of Roman Murkeriee and Tom Kelly. Sherbrooke, as expected, dominated play in the two-day tournament, losing only one match to R.M.C.

SAILING

Three Loyola undergraduates who trained at the Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club represented the college at the 1964 Intercollegiate Sailing Championships. Competition was of the Flying Junior Class. Phil Gascon, a fiery French Canadian, skippered the crew of Jacques Bertrand and Louis Gascon, two veterans. A brisk wind carried the crew too close to the Sir George Williams dinghy resulting in disqualification of the Loyola entry for the fourth race. The Loyola score depleted rapidly leaving them in thirteenth place with 35 points. McGill, with Peter Leus as Skipper, copped the meet which saw 20 colleges from across Canada in competition. They totalled 72 points in the four race card.

GOLF

On the weekend of October 10 and 11 the Loyola golfing contingent visited the Rideau View Club in Ottawa, A damp, cold weekend kept the scores high in the OSL Golf Classic. Carlton took the two day tournament by the wide margin of 20 strokes over Sir George Williams. Al Lane and Don Miller were the only Loyola entrants who kept below 90 blows in the first round. They shot 82 and 84 respectively. Mike Midgely, Andre Laplante, and Nick Nantale rounded out the Lovola team. Doug Bowie of Carlton won the individual honors with a two day score of 157. Terry Perry of Carlton and Bob Dubeau of Sir George tied for second with 163.

TRACK & FIELD

For its rookie year in O.S.L. competition the Loyola Track squad fared exceptionally well. Although the final standings at the Kingston meet saw R.M.C. rack up 78 points the pride of Loyola's team was not blotted out. Bill Kennedy, the team's organizer and captain, smashed the existing 440 yard dash with a record run of 51 seconds. The previous mark was 52.1. As in Tennis and Golf, the Sir George contingent placed high in the standings coming a close second to R.M.C.

SWIMMING

This year, the O.S.L. swimming meet was held in St. Jean and as expected, Sir George retained its championship. Also as expected was the qualification for the national finals of Loyola's Udo Buechner and Chuck McCambridge. The Georgians with a net total of 90 points, were followed by R.M.C. with 66 points. C.M.R. with 54, and Loyola a solid fourth with 43. The Warriors were lead by their two top guns of Buechner and McCambridge, who between them contributed over half of the team's points. Other Warriors who contributed noticeably in the points race were Wayne Daly in the 50and 100-yard sprints as well as Murray Dundas and Peter Johnson in the backstroke. Distance man Bob Vallerand fared beyond expectations as he placed a respectable fifth in both the 200- and 400-yard free styles. The final event, the 200-yard free style relay, was a crowd-pleaser as it ended in a three-way photofinish. Loyola's quartet of Barletti, Daly, McCambridge and Felix Thyssen were in the lead at one stage but were nosed out at the end and finished third. In the national finals Lovola's two stalwarts, Buechner and McCambridge, amassed a total of 30 points giving them a ninth position in the eleven-team field. This brought the curtain down on a very successful Loyola squad this season.

BASKETBALL

With two games remaining in their regular 1965 season, the Varsity Warriors were faced with the dismal prospect: that a loss of either could possibly keep them out of the playoffs. Forwarding an 8-6 record, the Warriors were to meet a strong

R.M.C. squad who had previously defeated them 85-59, and a newly revitalized MacDonald team who were on the heels of an impressive 92-77 victory over Sir George. As a result of a 60-36 loss to Sir George the week before, the Warriors were enarossed in a struggle with Bishop's for the fourth and final playoff berth. Both teams had suffered 6 defeats and both had two games remaining. In the event of a tie, Loyola would get the nod in virtue of their lead in point-spread over the two games between these teams, one of which both won. Lovola started off on the right foot with an impressive 79-73 win over R.M.C. They now seemed like a sure bet for the playoff spot. Leading 40-30 at the half, the cagers fought off a second-half surge by the Cadets to post the victory. Captain Charlie Smith and Loyola's M.V.P. came up with his high game of the season with 34 points, 20 of which came in the hard-fought second half. Ron Mackey, on the comeback trail, added 20 and Otis (the Big "O") West counted 10. The Smith-West combination were instrumental in Loyola's 9 victories to date. However, and to the great disappointment of the B-Ball supporters, the Warriors lost their last regular-season game, which would have assured them of a playoff spot, 55-49 to the Mac-Donald Aggies. This enabled Bishop's to sweep their 2 remaining games and grab the last playoff spot. Nevertheless, the Warriors 9-7 record was quite commendable and praise must be given to graduates Charlie Smith, Ron Markey and Jim Renehan as well as coach Jack Winters.

HOCKEY

The exploits of the Loyola Varsity Hockey Team can be best described in one word — inconsistency. Looking back over the season, it is very simple to pick over some outstanding hockey, where the Warriors demonstrated that they were a team deserving top recognition. And yet, in other instances, it seemed as if they should be the doormats of the league. This is evidenced by the fact that in order to make the fourth and final playoff berth, the Warriors had to win all 3 remaining games to end with a better record than the Ravens. The 6-1 loss to Sir George eliminated them from the playoffs. However a tinge of revenge was welcomed when the Warriors downed a strong Laurentian contingent 3-2, which was ranked 6th in the nation and having won 17 straight. Co-captains Gord Lackenbauer with two and Bob Shaughnessy with one paved the way. Fortunately for the Warriors, a playoff berth was still to be theirs. When R.M.C. was unable to make the playoffs, the Warriors were given the nod. In a great offensive display, the inspired Warriors downed the Ottawa Gee Gees, who were sporting a 12-0-1 record on O.S.L. ice and runaway winners of the league pennant in regular season action, 7-6. Bruce Kelly lead the Loyola scorers with 3 goals while Bob Shaughnessy, Jacques Geuvre-mont, Tony Tyrrell and Rick Dawson added singles. Defenseman George Lackenbauer, named the outstanding player of the tournament, played a superlative game. The next afternoon before a packed house of 1,500 fans, the Warriors and Georgians met in the championship game of the playoffs. With 6 minutes to go, Rick Dawson put Loyola in front 5-4. But Sir George tied it up a minute later and the game went into overtime. After only 35 seconds, a Warrior miscue ended in a Georgian goal and the end of the season for the Warriors. This spirited finish was indeed heart-warming to coach Jack Kennedy, as his efforts and encouragement finally paid off.

Halfback Paul St. George, a 4-year veteran and the main offensive running threat in the Loyola backfield, pulls in a pass from Bernie Young in win over R.M.C. Redmen. St. George scored two touchdowns in this game and was instrumental in Loyola's fine showing this season. The Warriors, under head coach Don Preston, ended the 1964 season by defeating Waterloo Lutherans 22-13, thus earning them a first place tie in the Western Division of the Ottawa - St. Lawrence Conference. Loyola also clinched a very respectable third place in the Ontario Intercollegiate Conference. Congratulations must go to seniors Young, St. George, McCallum, Johansson, Bill Sutton, and Cam Gentile, who certainly played well in their final season with the Warriors. Coaches Don Preston and Al Grazys also must be commended for molding this team into a contender this year.

Drive and Fire Impress IAC Men

By JIM CULLEN

Of the hundreds of aspiring young collegians participating in the extensive intramural program at Loyola College there are two young men chosen as most representative. This chore comes to the sports commissioners and the class sports managers each May. On Wednesday, March 24, the Chairman of the Intramural Athletic Council, Mr. Bob Johannson announced that the selections for the past year were Lou Colvey of Arts II (1) and Mike Burke of Science

Lou Colvey, the top Junior, lead the whole College in scoring during the hockey season. In football, Lou sparked his fellow artsmen to a second place finish in the sophomore division playing end on offense and halfback on the defensive unit. One of the most important qualifications for the selectors is that the candidate be versatile. Lou played basketball and golf and even tried his hand at volleyball. His quiet manner no doubt hides a driving spirit which was well manifest during the past season. His choice was hailed by all at the annual Awards Nite.

Arts IV Breezes To Class Of Year Crown

by Bob Johannson

Arts IV established itself as Class of the Year last week by in two straight games from Science I (1). After taking a commanding lead in class of the year honours they had to withstand a late season challenge Science IV. Fresh from winning the school championship in hockey, the senior sciencemen felt winning the school championship that they were ready to down Arts IV in a show down basketball game for all the marbles. Led by two real gentlemen, Bill Sutton and Bill Pennyfather of Arts IV they dropped the fourth year sciencemen 21-16 to sow up the coveted honour, Class of the Year.

> In the school final on Wednesday that decided basketball supremacy on campus, it was Hingston Hall easily handling the school representatives Arts IV 36-20. Sinking the senior Artsmen almost single-handed was Pete Toussaint of the residence who dropped in 18 points. Standing out for the residence besides center Toussaint were guards Ed Giardino and Noel Da Silva, while Sutton and Pennyfather were the choice of the Artsmen.

> In hockey this year, Hingston Hall sacrificed their lunches for three straight days to decide the hockey championship. However the sacrifice payed off, after winning the first game 2-1, and tying the next two games 2-2 they were awarded the championship as they were the first team to get four points, the equavalent of two wins in the best of three final. Standouts for the residence were Norm Chouinard, Jeil Saweczko and goaler Tom Rowan, who kept them in the game at all times. Standouts for the losers were Neil Tomiuk, George Steszyn and goaler Mike Pilon who came up with many key saves to prolong the series to three

While mentioning fiery spirits one cannot help but recall the antics and acrobatics of Mike Burke. The Loyola NEWS points out that Mike scored two-thirds of the Sciencemen's total points during the football season (see page 140) as well as playing defensive safety. This writer recalls many a close call on the intramural gridiron with Mr. Burke and would not fail to agree with the selectors that ferocious Mike made his presence felt. In hockey this year Mike was selected to the Senior section all-stars after leading his class all year in the scoring parade. It should also be noted that Mike swings a mean golf club, plays basketball, volleyball and occasionally argues with referees. His selection deserves note and his efforts merit plaudits.

GIRLS...

To a Friend . . .

The slow self-confident walk of a dreamer,
The quick half-muffled laugh of a pixie.
The smooth shining head of youth and hope,
The clear bright brown eyes that could warm in one instance
and at another, singe through steel;
She would laugh and you would listen to the plea behind the laugh, reaching out like our laughter, to catch the passing seconds, hours and years.

Call her death a strike-out or a tear in the eye—but don't weep.

For the tomorrows of every youth, of all the Gails, Shall belong to her in a special way.

This poem, written by a classmate, is dedicated to the memory of Gail Spooner. Gail was a Loyola coed who was fatally injured at the close of her first year. It is in this small way that we here at Loyola would like to express our sympathy and also sadness for the loss of one of our own.

PETER GERALD BAHEN

HISTORY

"Work as if everything depended upon you, pray as if everything depended upon God."

Pete had most of his schooling in Lachine where he graduated from high school at Bishop Whelan in 1961. Upon graduation from college he plans to obtain a Bachelor of Education from either St. Joseph's Teachers' College or the University of Ottawa with the intentions of teaching high school in the near future.

ATHLETICS: Intramural Hockey 1-4; Football; Basketball 4.

KARL HANS BAUER

BIO-CHEMISTRY

"Not unless we fill our existence with an aim do we make it life." Reichel.

Karl is an eight year man at Loyola, who plans to obtain his M.D. and practice surgery now that he is sure of his vocation. We wish him success and happiness in life.

ACTIVITIES: Pre-Medical & Dental Society 3. ATHLETICS: Soccer Manager 3; Varsity Soccer 2; Intramural Football; Hockey; Volleyball; Swimming; Skiing 1-4.

PATRICK BRIAN BENTLEY

ENGLISH

"In proportion, therefore, as we endeavour to live according to the guidance of reason, shall we strive as much as possible to depend less on hope." Baruch Spinoza.

A quiet student, Pat ends his eight year stay at Loyola, remembered by his fellow students as a pleasant and amiable friend. He intends to continue his studies at St. Joseph's and possibly return to Loyola in the future as a teacher. His activities show evidence of what Pat can do when his interests are sparked into action. Besides the Rockies, Montreal is his favorite habitation and Pat will probably settle down here after completing his world travels.

ACTIVITIES: Drama 1-4; Lighting Manager; IAS 3; Jazz Society 4; Delta Sigma Phi Fraternity 4; News Editor 3-4; ATHLETICS: Intramural Football 1.

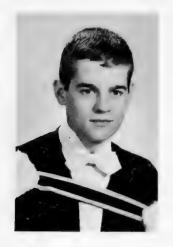

POLITICAL SCIENCE

"The only thing necessary for the triumph of evil is for men to do nothing." Edmund Burke.

Jacques, is a scholarly political science major. Individualistic, but sociable, he has demonstrated organizational ability rarely found in a man of his years. Conservative in mind and in dress, outspoken in discussion and debate, Jacques takes these impressive qualities into his chosen profession. Upon graduation, he plans to take his M.A. in Political Science, at an American University, return to Canada, to teach and to write. Eventually, he hopes to become a man of politics, rather than one in politics. Imbued with the characteristics of success, initiative, and ability, all who know Jacques, expect him to be as outstanding in the coming years, as he has been in his formative years.

ACTIVITIES: Awards Chairman 2; UMUN Head Delegate 1-3; St. Lawrence Modell Security 2; Skidmore Conference 2; SAM 1; Debating 1; Model Parliament 3; President Sigma Delta Phi 4; IAS Secretary-Treasurer 2; IAS Chairman CAC 3-4; Bowling L & M 4. ATHLETICS: Intramural Basketball 2.

THOMAS EDWARD BRADY Jr.

CLASSICS

"Felix qui potuit rerum cognoscere causas". Virgil.

Tom came to Loyola from Marymount High. After spending his first three years as a History Major, Tom surprised everyone by switching to his present major, with the result that he will become the first, and only, Loyola graduate with a Classics major, an accomplishment which will not soon be forgotten. Next year he expects to attend St. Joseph's Teachers' College, hoping eventually to specialize in the teaching of Latin. If his stay here is a sign of things to come, we cannot help but think that he will be a great success in his chosen field.

ACTIVITIES: Intramural Sports; Bowling 1; Hockey 1-4; Football 1.

UDO BUECHNER

ECONOMICS

"If you lose say little, If you win say even less."

Udo threw his weight around more on the athletic field than on the academic side of things. After graduation, he intends to go on an extended European trip to see his native country (Germany). At the moment he is really undecided about his future ambitions. If, and when he returns, he will do postgraduate studies either in business administration or physical education, preferably the latter. We know that he enjoyed his four years at good old Loyola and he will miss it thoroughly, as much as we will miss him.

ACTIVITIES: IAS 3; News 4; IAC; Swimming Commissioner 4; MVP, Swimming 4; ATHLETICS: Varsity: Swimming 1-4; Soccer 1-4; Tennis 4; Intramural Football 1, 2, 4; Hockey 1, 2, 4.

MARK PETER BURNS

ECONOMICS

"It is not what he has, nor even what he does, which directly expresses the worth of a man, but rather what he is."

An ''immigrant'' from the University of Manitoba, Mark came to Loyola to further his knowledge while on the road which he hopes will lead to a Law degree from the University of British Columbia in three years time. Being a Vancouverite, he doesn't get home for many weekends, so instead he makes his presence felt on the Montreal scene. As for success, a man is what he makes himself.

ACTIVITIES: SAM 2-4; IAS 2-4; Debating Society 2-4; Folk Music 2-4; Jazz Society 2-4; Italian Society 2-4.

ROBIN BRUCE BURNS

HONORS HISTORY

"If it were small enough to understand, it would be too small to believe in." Coming from St. Joseph Teachers' College to find a more academic atmosphere he has been following the honours history programme for the past three years. He hopes to either pursue his interests in early French Canada into Graduate School or return to Teachers' College. While much of his time has been absorbed by course work, he has participated in activities not associated directly with Loyola. He has served five years with the RCAF Auxiliary and Primary Reserve (U.R.T.P.). He has participated as an active member in the Quebec Association of Teachers of History and the Historical Association of Montreal. This summer he hopes to travel to Mexico and participate actively in the conference on Inter-American Student Projects.

ACTIVITIES: Conference on Inter-American Student Projects (CIASP); Acton Society 2-4; Debating Society 4; CNRM 4; URTP (RCAF) 2-4. AWARDS: Non-Athletic, Atherton Prize "Outstanding Research in Canadian History" 3.

GERALD MICHAEL BUSH

ENGLISH

"If your luck isn't what it should be, write a P' in front of it and try again."

Gerry, as a product of St. Mary's college in Brockville, received a redemptorist background which has nevertheless stood him in good stead in his three years at this Jesuit Institution. Within the college Gerry has taken part in Dramatics and in Social Work and this year as the CUSO representative on campus, he attended the annual CUSO conference in Ottawa. His extracurricular activities have extended outside of Loyola as is evidenced by the growth of the LaSalle Genesians (A youth club) under his chairmanship. Gerry plans to study psychology after spending a few years teaching and a few summers travelling in Europe.

ACTIVITIES: CUSO Representative 4; CUSO Ottawa Conference 4; Drama 2; Debating 2. ATHLETICS: Intramural Hockey 2.

THOMAS EDWARD CARRIGAN

PHILOSOPHY

"He is one of those who don't want millions, but an answer to their questions." Dostoyevsky.

Tom, a lover of women and wisdom came to Montreal from Nova Scotia joined the evening division and then enrolled as a day scholar in 1963. The possessor of a keen analytical mind, he is quick to find fallacies in discussion and has the ability of keeping to the point. A great admirer of St. Thomas, the Summa occupies much of his spare time. A frequent changer of residences, he manages to enlist the assistance of his friends and direct the operation without much effort. He enjoys good music from the light classics to the Irish vocalist John McCormick. His success as a future professor is guaranteed by an understanding of student difficulties, especially with regard to overdue term papers and by his ample supply of "Pure Irish Blarney." We feel sure that Tom will find an answer to his questions.

RONALD CIVITARESE

ECONOMICS

"I might look busy but, I'm only confused."

Ron came to us from Cardinal Newman, arriving at Loyola in his sophomore year. His readiness to participate in various activities has won him the friendship and respect of those who have been in contact with him. He leaves us now to enter the business world in which, no doubt, he will succeed.

ACTIVITIES: NFCUS 2-3; Band 2; Italian Soc. (Publicity Chairman) 3-4.

PHILIPPE EUGENE CLEMENT

POLITICAL SCIENCE

"I wasted in five years what I perfectly could have wasted in four."

Better known as "The Bear", Phil has now been here for eight years and everytime he is asked how long he has been here, he always replies with a very frank "Too long". He is known to all of his friends as one who does things as if tomorrow were just a rumour. As a proctor in the residence he is fair and first, he kids around with the residents and pulls a few practical jokes on his fellow proctors occasionally. Because of his size and mobility (185 lbs.) he is one of the best skiers around and succeeds in holding the opposite team at a standstill in intramural football. He is crazy about sports cars and rarely misses a race. He himself drives a great big blue run-down Austin 850. Although he never has the appearance of being a serious man, he has a definite objective; to get through Law School.

ATHLETICS: Intramural Football 4; Skiing 4; Hockey 3-4.

ALDO COCCIRDI

POLITICAL SCIENCE

"When the going gets tough, the tough get going."

A product of Cardinal Newman, Aldo has distinuished himself at Loyola by maintaining an academic worth that is hard to match. Possessed of a likeable and enganging personality, he has won the respect of his fellow students, as well as their friendship. He will undoubtably be successful in his future chosen field of law, for he combines intelligence and scholarship with forthrightness and a good sense of value. We wish him the best of luck.

ACTIVITIES: NFCUS 2-3; Italian Society 3-4, (President 4th year).

DAVID C. COMPTON

HISTORY

"I wept when I was born, and everyday shows why." Shakespeare.

After graduating from Marymount High School in 1961, Dave studied at Cardinal Newman High where he received his senior matriculation. In 1962, he enrolled in the faculty of Arts at Loyola College. Throughout his three years at Loyola, his spare time was taken up by an outside job thus enabling him to finance his own education. Upon graduation Dave hopes to continue his studies at St. Joseph's Teachers' College and after receiving his Bachelor of Education, teach high school as a History and Theology Professor.

BRIAN MICHAEL CONNOLLY

HONORS THEOLOGY

"The worst cliques are those which consist of one man." George Bernard Shaw. Brian, a resident of Verdun, comes to us via St. Leo's Academy of Westmount. His quiet and unassuming personality is totally disarming. This aspect of his character has a most positive and salutary effect, forming the basis of a vital dynamism which has pitched him headlong into many community and collegiate undertakings and taken him halfway around the world as a YMCA youth representative. The winner of a scholarship in each of his four years, he is a proponent of the maxim that an education must involve the development of the whole man. He has also been active in sports. His keen interest in his fellow man at present has involved him deeply in social work and in the future will in all likelihood, lead to his ordination as a diocesan priest.

ACTIVITIES: Social Works Committee (Chairman) 4, Aid to Latin America 4; Liberals 3-4; ATHLETICS: Intramural Hockey 1, 2, 4.

JOHN PATRICK CONLON

POLITICAL SCIENCE

"Truth is often eclipsed, but never extinguished."

ACTIVITIES: Advertising Director, 2-3; Radio Loyola, 3-4; Drama 1-4; Italian Society, 3-4; Debating, 1; Vice-President for Internal Affairs; Rep. Freshman Arts.

HENRY PAUL CREVIER

HONORS HISTORY

"It's the Mark of an inexperienced man not to believe in luck." Joseph Conrad.

Not only is Paul witty, debonair, amiable, and profoundly intelligent but he is also Loyola's first honors student to specialize in African history. Although Paul's entire existence would seem to be dedicated to the pondering of Kwame Nkrumah's motives for Pan-Africanism, Paul's close confreres know that he is mainly interested in the drinking of beer, the pursuit of women, and in general, the perfecting of the art of enjoying oneself. Paul is keenly aware that his life as a socialite, which includes frequent sojourns to the inn, the Berkeley Hotel, and Lake George, must end soon for he is Loyola's child of destiny.

ACTIVITIES: Lord Acton Society, Vice-President 2, Lord Acton Society, President 3, Bowling L&M 1; ATHLETICS: Intramural Football 1, Intramural Hockey 1-2.

ALLAN CYTRYNBAUM

POLITICAL SCIENCE

Loyola received Allan from West Hill High School whence he brought all his friendliness and frolic that is his alone. When not tinkering with cars or practising for the college band or pursuing some "deal" Al would find the time to don his unforgettable sweater and make his way to a Poli Si class which was usually followed by a discussion with some professor. I imagine Al's pet peeve here was theology 101 and suffering through classes will surely rank among Al's memories of Loyola. Next year Al will be plunging into a profession as a Lawyer and we are sure the future cannot hold but success for him.

ROBERT SARSFIELD DALY

ECONOMICS

"There is a lot of difference in pioneering for gold and pioneering for spinach." Will Rogers.

Bob entered Loyola after four years in Loyola High. Although involved in other activities the interest in basketball establish during his high school years stayed with him. He managed the Varsity cagers in his first two years and since then has acted as their publicity man. An arts student majoring in Economics, Bob expects to seek permanent employment upon graduation, hoping some day to return to college for postgraduate work in either Law or Business Administration.

ACTIVITIES: Publicity Director FRA 2; SAM 2-3, Liberals 2-3; News sports reporter 3-4; Review writer 3-2; Carnival publicity director 3; Arts society council member 3. ATHLETICS: LCAA Council member 1-2, Secretary 2; Varsity Basketball manager 1-2; Basketball publicity director 3-4; Intramural football 1, basketball 1-2, volleyball 1-2.

MARCEL DANIS

POLITICAL SCIENCE

"La Perseverance est la Clef du Success."

Marcel came to us from St. Patrick's College in Ottawa. Generous and patient in contact with others, he is noted for his devotion to his ideals. He loves to engage in a variety of interests but is always prepared to devote time and energy to the thorough comprehension of any subject which appeals to him. Versatility and quickness of perception are his outstanding characteristics. Ambition is a during force in his personality and his life is directed on well-disciplined lines. Marcel wishes to enter Law and make Politics his career. We wish him the best and his high standard of personal rectitude coupled with sufficient magnetism of personality should elevate among natural leaders.

ACTIVITIES: PCSF 2-4, Secretary 2, Treasurer 3, Vice-President 4; Political Science Club 4. ATHLETICS: Varsity Hockey 2, Intramural Hockey 2-3.

MARY IRENE DEREWECKA

HONORS HISTORY

"It is better to be small and shine; than, tall and cast a shadow."

Member elite of the hardy group of women pioneers, Mary was one of the first women to brave the elements of this once (sigh?) bachelor's domain. In her second year at Loyola, she arrived here from Holy Names in 1962, she banded together the then rapidly growing female population (all of 32 members) into the first Women's Association, which came to be regarded by its original members as primarily a protective League! After this, Mary just fell naturally into the role of the Ann Landers of the Women's Lounge. From here, drama was just the next step and there was still a whole honors history program to keep up, especially since Mary intends to go on to graduate studies. A favorite secretary for many campus societies, she will be sorely missed in the future not only for her boundless energy but mostly for her unquenchable cheerfulness. After all this guys, c'mon, 'less up, having girls here hasn't been that bad!

ACTIVITIES: Directory 3, FRA 3-4; Montreal Model Parliament 2-4; IAS 3-4, Liberals 2-3, Drama 3-4; Women's Association (President 3, Vice-President 4); Acton 2-4, Maroon & White Secretary 4; IDM 4; Review staff 3, Co-Editor of Co-Eds 4; Arts Society 2-4. AWARDS: Pin and Scroll 3.

STEFANIE DEREWECKA

BIO-CHEMISTRY

"Our sweetest songs are those that tell of saddest thought." P. B. Shelley.

Safety in numbers is a well-known fact — and fellows, a girl can't let her only sister loose among a pack of wolves. Thus in 1962, Stefanie also arrived at Loyola. With medicine in mind, she got right down to the business of biochem and other such scientific pursuits. Nevertheless, by participating in an amazing number of activities, she still managed to imprint an indelible mark upon this campus. In addition to helping found the Women's Association, she was instrumental in improving the scenery of the upper campus — and we do mean the cheerleaders. Her inexhaustible energy and friendly enthusiasm has made her a valued friend for many. And with a hard-earned and well-deserved degree behind her, and above all, much invaluable experience in the world of men, Stefanie already has half that 19D after her name. May we all wish you the best of luck, doc!

ACTIVITIES: Freshman Week 3, Freshman Week Secretary 4, Directory 3; Drama 3-4, Pre-Med & Dental 2-4, Women's Association (Vice-President 3, President 4), Liberals 3-4, IDM 3-4, IAS 4, Review Co-Ed Editor 3, Co-Editor of Co-Eds 4; Arts 2-4. ATHLETICS: Cheerleader 3-4, Captain and manager 4.

MICHEL JULES DOUESNARD

BIO-CHEMISTRY

"An educated man not only says 'Honi soit oui mal y pense,' But must also say 'Honi soit qui panse mal'."

Four years anywhere can change a man's life and Loyola College has surely changed Mike's for the best. French Canadian by birth it has taught him to better understand the present political situation in Quebec and Canada thus making its contribution to it. Loyola has given him before anything else a new way of thinking which cannot but stay with him throughout his entire life. It has achieved this through a network of courses which were very well planned and of organizations which were equally well planned and skillfully supervised.

ACTIVITIES: Social works committee 4, CUS 4; Pre Med & Dental 2-4, Math Club 4. AWARDS: Scholarship 2.

FRANCOIS FELDMULLER

BIO-CHEMISTRY

As a Loyola High School graduate, Francois entered the Arts faculty in 1960 with ambitions in the medical field. His polite manners and enganging personality won him both friends and deep respect. In all fairness it can be said that wherever Frank walked, the spirit of Loyola was with him. Best wishes of all his classmates go with him in his chosen profession.

ACTIVITIES: Pre-Med & Dental Society 2-4.

ORTELIO ANTONIO FERNANDEZ-CRUZ

PHILOSOPHY

"Combatirse a si nismo es la mas deficul guerra; vencerse a si nismo es la victoria mas bella." A. Von Logan.

Tony can be described by two words only — Tony Fernandez. There are few people on campus whose paths have not been crossed (or toes stepped on) by Tony. He came to Loyola to get his B.A. in philosophy, much to the regret of his professors. He is a dedicated student, gifted with a deep analytical mind, but with both his feet planted solidly on the ground. Tony's love is humanitarian work; he experiences a deep feeling of brotherhood. He is never satisfied with second best either for himself or others. His aim in life is to win at least one cribbage game.

ACTIVITIES: Social Works Committee 3-4, Canadian Scholarship Foundation for Latin Americans (Secretary) 3-4, Aid to Latin America, Chairman, 4; Sodality, Latin American Students (Cultural Director). AWARDS: Mug of Recognition (for founding CSFLA) 3.

JOSEPH MOYLE FERRIGAN

POLITICAL SCIENCE

"I slept and dreamed that life was beauty, I wake and found that life was duty."

Maysh or Maylie as he is sometimes known, graduated from Loyola High in 1961 and has advanced steadily through College. The way was made easy by his effervescent personality and bubbling good spirits. A fervent Sodalist, Mayle has held all of the executive positions in that organization while also finding time to pursue pleasure as a vital member of the L-M Bowling League. In the athletic field, Moyle has backed down from no one. As a stalwart lineman and an immovable defenseman in hockey, he has sparked his class to many noon-time victories. As well as participation, he is also a boisterous supporter of the Varsity Squads, as can easily be judged, Moyle in his eight years, has been a credit to Loyola.

ACTIVITIES: Social Works Committee 3-4; Sodality 1-4, Sodality President 2, Sodality 1st Vice-President 3, Sodality Secretary 4, L-M Bowling 1-4 L-M Bowling President 3, Political Science Club 4; Arts Society 1-4. ATHLETICS: Intramural football 1-4, hockey 1-4, bowling 1-4, basketball 1-4, volleyball 1-4, golf 4.

SIEGFRIED GATKOWSKI

ENGLISH

"Let Man be not what he is but what he should be."

Affectionately known to the group as Ziggy, it is a well-known fact that he has "gone existentialist". At almost anytime of day you will find him muttering to himself in the halls whether or not to accept Heidegger's latest theory. Besides recuperating from hectic CPR summers Ziggy has his sights set upon post-graduate study at the University of Ottawa in the field of psychology after which he plans to save the world. Always immaculately dressed and quietly reserved he purports to embody the statement of the rampant, carefree Joe College image. At the risk of sounding terribly cliche we wish him affectionately the best of success in the past.

ACTIVITIES: Drama Actor 3, Social Works 2-4.

MICHEL J. R. GENDRON

POLITICAL SCIENCE

"He who is true to himself can have individuality; he who has individuality can have character."

Mike, a product of Sherbrooke, Que., is by nature a quiet individual who, because of his keen analysis and solution of problems, has easily gained the esteem of his confreres. Beneath a mask of common sense and maturity, Mike harbours a very creative imagination and intense desire for organization and, unfortunately, for those friends who have a habit of being tardy, impatience! Potential, coupled with ambition (an MBA and a doctorate after Loyola) will undoubtedly realize him an abundance of success in his chosen field of finance. Best of luck Mike!

GERALD CHARLES GUMMERSELL

POLITICAL SCIENCE

"With a good conscience our only sure reward, with history the final judge of our deeds, let us go forth to lead the land we love, asking His blessing and His help, but knowing that here on earth God's work must truly be our own." John F. Kennedy.

Gerry is an individualistic political science Major, best described as being polite and suave, smooth and polished in manner. He combines scholarship and an adherence to decorum with an outgoing personality making him a gentleman. In his senior year, he led the International Affairs Society, to heights never climbed before. After graduation, he intends to embrace Law and maybe later, the profession of lawmaker. New summits await him. Everyone's friend, he shall be remembered most likely to succeed.

ACTIVITIES: Program Director IAS 3, President IAS 4, SAM 4, Sigma Delta Phi Fraternity 4, Debating 1, Liberals 3, Political Science Club 4; Arts Society 2-4.

GERALD HANCHUK

ENGLISH

"Everyman is the architect of his own fortune."

Gerry graduated from D'Arcy McGee in 1961. The following year he attended Cardinal Newman where he obtained his senior matriculation in 1962. The last three years he has been at Loyola College working for a BA majoring in English. He intends to establish himself in the business world. We wish him all the success he will surely deserve.

ACTIVITIES: Band 2-4.

SEAN HARRINGTON

POLITICAL SCIENCE

"Get the strikes, and let the spares take care of themselves."

The quote applies literally to Sean who has distinguished himself both on and off the bowling lanes. He led the Loyola-Marionopolis in two ways, firstly as the top average and secondly as President in his final year. In the field of publications he further distinguished himself in both his capacities, as Managing Editor of the News and as Editor-in-Chief of the Directory. He culminated his extra curricular record in forth year as Arts representative on the Assembly (Lower House). Both his fine marks and his achievements in student activities distinguish Sean as one of the students who find the correct balance between the two, which makes a student truly a winner.

ROBERT HENRY HARRIS

"Life is not a bowl of cherries; it's a bowl of raisins. Raisin kids and raisin money."

Bob has had varying ambitions during his stay here at Loyola deciding, however, to follow the Honours Theology course in his last two years. "To study theology means to desire to live in a progressive understanding of the gospel and to devote one's life ever anew to this understanding." With this in mind Bob chose his field. He has had an interest in social and apostolic work, and as such he hopes to apply his attempted understanding of the Gospel message to this type of work. Next year, Bob will be pursuing further studies at the Grand Seminary of Montreal, in preparation for the Priesthood.

ACTIVITIES: Sodality Candidate 3; Co-Chairman of Canadian Scholarship Foundation for Latin Americans 3; Social Works 2, Social Works Sub-Committee Chairman 4.

JAMES MICHAEL HASSINGER

HONORS ENGLISH

"Hnuy Illa, Nyah Maiah Yahoo." Swift.

Jim began his career at Loyola as a small pink child; by continual efforts at self-improvement, he soon became a gangling youth. Just before his descent into doddering senility, he graced Loyola with a smiling presence unequalled since the grand old days of Voltaire and de Sade (they were Jesuit boys too, remember). Who will forget his prize-winning scatology, his beautiful Priapic odes, his genial voyeurism? Everybody. Let's hear it, folks, and wish him all the best in his new job as society osteopath.

ACTIVITIES: Drama 1-4; Acting 1-3; Directing 3-4; Folk Music 1-2; Feature Editor 1-2; Amphora Contributor 1; Amphora absentee editor 3; AWARDS: SAC Plaque of Recognition 2.

PAUL HENRY THEOLOGY

"Ask not what your country can do for you—ask what you can do for your country." John F. Kennedy.

A graduate of St. Willibrord's High, Paul is interested in philosophy, theology and literature. His most important desire is to understand people in all walks of life and from these human relationships to arrive at a deeper realization that man must progress in truth and good acts. In future he will pursue a higher form of education.

THOMAS BRIAN HIGGINS

ECONOMICS

Brian came to Loyola from Marymount High School. He has been seen at a number of College social activities — leading cheers among other things — and has also been known to throw the occasional — at intramural football games. In activities he was perhaps the person most responsible for the revival of the Tri-Faculty Ball: his qualities of leadership and administration certainly contributed to the success of this event from both the managerial and social points of view. His accomplishments and abilities were recognized at the end of his Junior year when he was named Secretary of the SAC. Word has it that Brian will continue his studies next year at Loyola for a B.Comm. degree, then project himself into the cruel and ruthless business world. Good luck, cruel and ruthless Brian!

ACTIVITIES: Secretary SAC 4; Arts Assembly Representative 3, Tri-Faculty Ball — Co-Chairman 3; Student Centre Committee 4; Maroon & White 4, Bowling L&M 2. ATHLETICS: Intramural Basketball 2, Football 2-4.

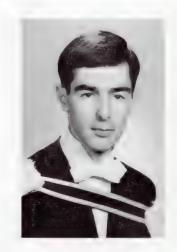

GEORGE ERNEST HYLAND

ENGLISH

"The secret of success in life is for a man to be ready for his opportunity when it comes."

A graduate of St. Willibrord High School in Verdun, George came to Loyola in order to study for his B.A. degree, with a major in English. He is one of those rare types who possesses the happy knack of being able to combine studies, athletics and social life, and still remain on the Dean's good list. His particular interests at Loyola have been philosophy, intramural hockey and golf. His present plans call for his enrollment next year in St. Joseph Teachers' College where he hopes to obtain a B.Ed.

ATHLETICS: Intramural Golf 1-3, Football 2, Hockey 2-3.

CHARLES ANDRE JEANNOTTE

FRENCH

"Celui-la est sage qui ne dedaigne les lecons de personne-traite des principes."

Charles, better known on campus as "Chuck" or "Charlie" comes to us by way of Loyola High. This resident of Lachine has been a very active student particularly in the realm of sports where his tireless energy and incessant drive to win has made him a likeable individual on campus. As regards the future, Charles plans to obtain a Bachelor of Education degree from St. Joseph's Teachers' College and then enter the teaching profession where we know he will be a success. All his friends wish him the best of luck.

ACTIVITIES: SAM 2, Liberals 2-3. ATHLETICS: Intramural Hockey, 2-4, Bowling 2-4, Football 2-4.

WILLIAM DAVID KENNEDY

HISTORY

"He who thinks he has done enough has done nothing." Bishop Fulton J. Sheen.

Bill came to us from De La Salle Oaklands in Toronto in 1962. His chief interests lie in athletics, particularily track and field. Next fall he plans to enter McMaster University in search of a B. Phys. Ed. degree. We wish him continued success in his studies.

ATHLETICS: Varsity Sports: Football 3, Track and Field 4, Swimming 4; Intramural Football 2-4; Hockey 2-4; Swimming 2-3.

DOUGLAS ANDREW KILGOUR

HONORS ECONOMICS

"Learning without thought is wasteful, Thought without learning is perilous." Confucius.

Doug, as we all know him, is one of the best dressed men on campus. A "shutter-bug", his "Revealing" shots of student life have graced many publications during his sojourn at Loyola. His contributions to economic thought was greatly enhanced by his philosophical and theological insights, the fruits of which many of us will appreciate. Doug's winning personality has gained for him the respect of all who have known him. Postgraduate studies in economics is his immediate goal and we rest assured of this endeavor's success and wish him the best.

GORDON LACKENBAUER

"Whoever you are, whatever you do, to thine own self be true."

"Gord", as he is known to his mother and father, is an eight-year man at Loyola (he failed four times). Still, he plans to continue his studies at Western Ontario, in the field of Business Administration. During his undergraduate years, Gord has developed a number of philosophies on life. He strongly believes that humanity will be improved by a greater concern over neatly groomed hair; he has a broad social outlook and insists that honours economics students can excel academically, lead the hockey team, efficiently direct the Athletic Association, spend two weeks in the hospital and still have time to smile. He was right!

ACTIVITIES: NFCUS Delegate to 6th National Seminar in Guelph; CUS delegate to 7th National Seminar in Quebec City, Chairman, First Annual Awards Banquet; Maroon & White; SAC Assembly; Athletics representative 4. PAUL ANDRE LADOUCEUR

"Seul l'Esprit, s'il souffle, sur la glaise, peut creer l'homme." Antoine de Saint-Exupery.

A Marymount grad, Paul, known as "the Sweetness" to his friends, came to Loyola on a scholarship. During his four years at Loyola, spirited self-determination coupled with just plain intelligence kept Paul high in his class. With interests varying from music to travel, Paul is known for more than his academic endeavors. Student activities on campus, as well as on national and international levels, are high among his pre-occupations. This is partly reflected in his position as the Student Association's first External Vice-President. Paul is thinking of Law School with a view to a career in diplomacy or teaching. In any case, we can feel assured of his success in his future studies and his chosen career.

ACTIVITIES: SAC, Vice-President External Affairs 4; CUS, Quebec Regional President 4; CUSO Student Representative 3; RAC 3; Seminar on International Student Affairs 3; Sodality 1-2; Pre-Medical & Dental Society 2; Bourders' Society Editor, "The Jester" 2.

ROBE

ROBERT LEIGH LECLERC

HONORS ENGLISH

"See procrastination as he stands forth, raises his ugly head, and screams failure, grief and disappointment at the world. But almost two billion people will not listen! Too bad."

In his eight years at Loyola, Bob has always been an all-around man (all around his belt). Athletically, Bob has been the "big man" on many intramural teams, ranging from football and hockey to snooker and pool. Besides being a fan of Western music (for which we shall forgive him), he always enjoys himself in the social circles. In addition to excelling in his honors English program, Bob has also found time to debate, work on the Review,, revive the Arts Society, sit on the Lower House, and to be President of the Student Association. A man with a quick smile and a friendly personality, Bob will be missed at Loyola but welcomed at Western where he plans to study for his MBA.

ACTIVITIES: SAC President 4, Social and Recreational 3; News Staff 1, Review Varsity Sports 2, Carnival Protocol 1; Arts Society President 3. AWARDS: One year award of merit. 3. MICHAEL WILLIAM LICHACZ

ENGLISH

"Est modus in rebus, sunt certi denique fines, quos ultra citraque nequit consistere rectum." Horace, "Satires" I, I.

Mike entered second year Arts at Loyola after having completed fifth year high at Cardinal Newman High School. His plans for the future are as yet not definite, but whatever field he chooses in life well, we are sure, will bring him success.

ACTIVITIES: Drama acting 3-4; News staff 4.

DENNIS VICTOR LUCAS

HONORS ENGLISH

Que sera, sera, what ever will be, will be."

When he was five years old, Dennis was given two rabbits, both male, which proved to be unhousebreakable. The animals were confiscated and delivered to a farmer. To this day, Dennis believes them to have been executed and devoured in a pie. Now you might expect that such an early introduction to the ways of the world would have left permanent scars on his tender psyche. Not a bit of it! In fact, Dennis has retained an optimism and innocence in the face of such overwhelming traumas as the rabbit incident such as to be truly amazing.

ACTIVITIES: Faculty Organizations: Actor 2, Drama: Secretary 3, Actor 4. COTC 1-4.

W. GERARD MACDONALD

PHILOSOPHY

"Let thy speech be better than silence, or be silent."

Gerry, a graduate of Loyola High School, has maintained his keen sense of individuality even to the extent of majoring in philosophy. A somehwat reserved individual, he has nevertheless made significant contributions in various areas from social work to organizing ski trips. His captive smile and generous disposition has never failed to gain him friends on and off campus. His ability to organize combined with his magnetic personality has made his participation in societies and clubs most effective. His great concern for his fellow man and love of people will assure his success whether he pursues post-graduate studies or follows up his keen interest in public relations.

ACTIVITIES: Publicity, Social Works 4; FRA Chairman 4; Treasurer L & M Bowling 4.

MICHAEL DUDLEY MAHONEY

ECONOMICS

"Just a kind word, a greeting or smile; sweep all pride away and forgive; for I shall not pass this way again."

Sporting a smile few cares can smother, Mike came to Loyola by way of Cardinal Newman. Upon registering in second year, the traveller proceeded to spend four eventful years, on and off the campus, as an undergraduate student. Through every fault of his own, he leaves Loyola as he came, undaunted, unsung, unconquered and unshaven!

ACTIVITIES: SAM 2-4; IAS 2-4; Drama 3-4; Stage Hand 3. ATHLETICS: Intramural Football 2-4; Basketball 2-3; Hockey 2; Volleyball 2.

RONALD JAMES MARKEY

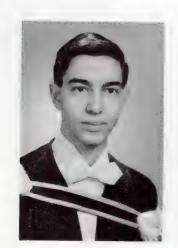

PRE-MED

"Never be afraid of adversity, it tempers the man."

A hardy communter from three blocks away for most of his stay at Loyola, Ron was an immediate success when he moved on campus. Life's real successes and fulfillments are determined from within however, and humour, compassion, intelligence and drive have always been a part of Ron. His campus success has revolved around a great basketball career as an MIP as well as a coach. His future success will revolve around a charmer called Sue and a steady hand with a dentist's drill.

ACTIVITIES: Pre-Med & Dental 2-4; Sodality 1; Faculty organization: Arts Society 1-4. AWARDS: Athletic: Varsity Basketball MIP 2. ATHLETICS: Varsity Basketball 1-3; Intramural Football 1-4; Volleyball 1-4; Basketball 1-4; Swimming 1-2; Bowling 1.

DOMENICO RICCARDO MARTINI

HONORS HISTORY

"The farther backward you can look, the farther forward you are likely to see." Winston Churchill.

Domenico entered sophomore year at Loyola after graduating from D'Arcy Mc-Gee and Cardinal Newman High Schools. During his stay at Loyola he has concentrated his efforts on studies, placing academic success above all else. He is an active member of a few societies on campus and also two professional associations off campus. This year he was appointed research assistant to Loyola's Centennial Project — The Thomas D'Arcy McGee Room. This year he also conducted a Freshman seminar in History. Next year he shall continue his studies aiming for a Ph. D. in History. His ambition is to be a Professor of History.

ACTIVITIES: Loyola Model Parliament 3, IDM 4; Acton 2-4; CNRM 3; Italian Society 3-4. AWARDS: Father Rector's Scholarship 3-4.

JOHN G. McCAGUE

POLITICAL SCIENCE

"Liberal education makes not the Christian, not the Catholic, but the gentleman." John Henry Cardinal Newman.

John, came to Loyola in his sophmore year and since that time has come to win the respect and friendship of those with whom he has been in contact. He will mostly be remembered as a warm, friendly fellow. His judgment of people, awareness of reality, and humble manner reflect a mature mind. These qualities will undoubtedly insure his success in life and particularly in his chosen field of public relations.

ACTIVITIES: IAS 1-4, Sigma Delta Phi 4.

FRANKLIN JOHN McCORMICK

ECONOMICS

"All day long, in unrest, to and fro do I move."

Frank, or as his friends call him, "F.J.," came to us via the halls of D'Arcy McGee High School. His mighty structure has adorned our noble campus for the past four years and needless to say his presence will never be forgotten. F.J. immediately impressed those around him with his calmness in the face of crises and could be counted on for that congenial smile a witty remark when depressed moods prevailed. Frank's future plans include obtaining his MBA from the University of Western Ontario and returning to Montreal to put his academic studies to work.

ROBERT GERALD McGOVERN

ECONOMICS

"He is well paid that is well satisfied."

Bob's easy going attitude and colorful sense of humor have gained him a host of friends during his eight years at Loyola. He possesses a secret formula for getting the most out of college activities. Bob was an avid participant in intramural sports and will be remembered around campus for initiating the popular game of "jotto". Of strong moral fiber and unsatisfied with a mere B.A. in economics, Bob plans on receiving a B. Comm. and an M.B.A. The question is not whether Bob will be ready for the business world, but whether the business world will be ready for Bob.

CARL JOSEPH GEORGE MURPHY

HONORS ENGLISH

"... a certain convocation of politic worms are e'en at him." Shakespeare.

A firm believer in "Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition," Carl has managed to raise the ire of many an S.A.C. "bureaucrat" during his sojourn on campus. As an award-winning editor of the NEWS, he has raged against the excesses of big government. This is not surprising, considering the fact that he has been a member in good standing of the Honors English department these past three years. He has however ventured into the world of student government to see for himself how the other half lives. The future will see Carl putting his numerous talents to work in the teaching profession.

CHARLES ANTHONY PEARSON

HONORS HISTORY

"I value solid popularity; the esteem of good men for good action. I despise the bubble popularity that is won without merit and lost without crime." T. H. Renton

Tony, in his years at Loyola, has proven his abilities in many fields. Known as a Liberal and a liberal, he excelled as a debater, public speaker, actor, student executive and political organizer. He represented Loyola at numerous conferences and his speaking prowess flowed forth, as usual, much to Loyola's pride. As the representative of the Canadian Union of Students, he twice organized the Cross-Canada Seminar on International Student Affairs. Elected Model Parliament Prime Minister three times, he managed to handle government with extreme ease and skill, utilizing his knowledge in his field of Canadian history. His ability in politics was recognized by Canadian student Liberals when, after editing the journal and handling the policy committee of the Canadian University Liberal Federation, he was unanimously elected President of that organization. Definitely a man to keep your eye on.

LEO ERNEST PERRON

PRE-MED

"Justice is loveliest, health is best, but sweetest to obtain is heart's desire."

Leo Perron's sincerity and quiet perserverence have made him one of the hardest working students at Loyola. His high spirits and cheerfulness have enabled him to maintain a positive outlook on life. His determination to do well, however, extends itself far beyond the realm of studies for Leo is also a "mover" who never fails to appreciate the finer qualities in women. His spontaneous, "What do y'a say, guys?" will be missed by all who knew him.

"To each his own."

Dan is a quiet, soft-spoken type who never shuns an argument. As for his favorite joke, he can never resist commenting that the two-ton chandeliers in the Canadian Senate are held up by scotch tape. He spent his last summer guiding tours through the Parliament Buildings, and was quite angered to find that the guides weren't allowed to accept tips, dates with girls, yes, but no tips? Having come through high school playing drums for Rock 'n' Roll groups, Dan became more serious in college and took up the clarinet. Says Dr. Allaire of the music department: "Dan should have stayed with the drums!" Perhaps Dan's stay at Parliament last summer was a preview of things to come!

VICTOR THOMAS SHEITOYAN

PHILOSOPHY

"To be sincere with oneself is necessary; but far more important is the search for truth." Rev. P. J. Malone, S.J.

To seek knowledge in order to be financially well-off in life is the goal of the practical man. To seek knowledge in order to refute and confuse is the goal of the controversial man. To seek knowledge in order to understand and to search for truth is the goal of the inquisitive man. Such is the end which he has undertaken. His journey at Loyola has given him the start. The future will decide whether he has achieved this goal or not. If it be true that man is a part of all that he has met, then it is his various encounters realized at Loyola which have become the greatest part of him.

". . . man is his time. Thus to waste my time is to waste myself . . ." Heidegger. Ed was born in Montreal in the year of Our Lord in 1943 in a hot day in August. There are no available reports of comets appearing in the sky or of strange conjunctions of the heavenly spheres when he made the first wails at the injustice and indignity of birth. At the age of eight he was transported to Port Hope, Ontario, where he conceived a lasting dislike for small towns. He quickly made his escape in return to Montreal where he checked into St. Ignatius Grade School from where he progressed, after sufficient lapse of time, to Loyola High School and from thence to a College from the same name. His hobbies are criticizing the inadequacies of modern education, reading the great Russians novels, detective stories and old comic books on which he shall base his doctorate thesis. If he should ever have occasion to write one. He also portrays muddle headed clerics, fathers, magical god fathers, and other assorted old gents in various "dramatic" productions at Loyola, Marianapolis, and the Paupers. Upon graduation he plans to lead a life based on the premises that lack of money is the root of all evil.

"Solute suspendere."

The laugh of life is his flag, yet, strangely enough, he'll approach you at times with the query, "What'd ya say we jump off the Tower together?" He'll probably end up the president of a typical non-exploiting Canadian company producing either stripped aspirin or strapless wrist watches or, then again, he might end up a priest teaching moral theology at Loyola. His goal is to do what everyone tells him not to and he'll surely label you "IN" if you dare contradict him. He looks upon organized society with a slightly jaundiced eye everstriving to embarass his entourage with his cynical antics. A surprising number of his friends admire him for it.

"Ask not what your country can do for you, but what you can do for your country." John F. Kennedy.

Marc came to us from Huntingdon, Quebec, bringing his charm and good looks which we shall all miss in the future. We shall also miss his spirit and physical prowess in intramural sports. His studies were often disturbed during the week because of his many hours spent on the phone looking for a date for the weekend. He is a very trustworthy and reliable fellow who is always there to help his friends. His smile and friendly personality will greatly help him in his future endeavors. So we wish him much success in the business world.

"The unexamined life is not worth living."

To his old high school buddies he is known as "Monk" but judging from his college activities one can plainly deduce that this moniker by no means would indicate his future vocation. It is hoped by all of those of sympathetic hearts, and dirty minds, that our boy "Monk" will invest (he is in Commerce?), in a car after graduation so that the long trip from Longeuil to Ville St. Pierre to see the honey will be shortened and the visit itself lengthened for hanky-panky's sake.

"Ten thousand miles of travel equal ten thousand books read."

Tom a native of Hong Kong, has not yet travelled his objective of ten thousand miles but has made a major dent towards his goal. His unrestricted reading on all topics has helped him cover many other miles. Four years of hard work have won for him a stepping stone towards the achievement of his C.A. degree. His extra-curricular potentials were recognized by his fellow students when he was elected head of the Chinese Society of Loyola. Tom's initial start in student affairs was built on a foundation of achievement with SAM, FCSF, and the IAS. During his last year Tom represented the political, religious, and ethenic societies on the SAC Lower House.

"Honesty, simplicity, and true love ought to be man's reasons for existence."

The many facet award on campus is highly deserved by John. Considering his high adaptability to people and circumstances he would make a chamelon blush, but far from being a proof of inconsistency it is one of deep psychology and understanding. John is as garrulous as any Italian person can be, if not more and even this is a poor estimate. Philosophy is to him the science par excellence. Arts and then Commerce served to testify John's progress and successes during his eight year stay at Loyola. Conscientious and diversified John will undoubtedly become an outstanding production manager.

"I was gratified to be able to answer promptly, and so I did. I said I didn't know." Mark Twain.

Don came to us by way of St. Leo's High School. During his stay at Loyola, he has impressed most of us as being a jovial fellow with a keen ability to make friends, and a good mixer who is at home in any group. Striking a proper balance between his social activities throughout "La Belle Province" and academic pursuits, he has managed to be very successful at both. Don is heading for a career in business and we are sure that his desire, tenacity and good sense will carry him to whatever heights of achievement he has set for himself.

"The farce is over, the work begins."

Cardinal Newman's "gift" to Loyola, Terry came here in his second year after spending a year in banking and another in military college at Royal Roads. Usually quiet and mild mannered, he is always willing to lend an ear or offer assistance, especially if you the fourth for bridge. A keen officer and ardent supporter of the Mess's social functions, he can often be there (except when in Plattsburg for lunch). He claims that his presence in the COTC and the increase in sales is pure coincidence. He has travelled across Canada several times with the Army, and will probably have the experience of greater travels as he plans to become a career officer in the regular army.

"We have no more right to consume happiness without producing it than to consume wealth without producing it." G. B. Shaw.

An easy going and affable fellow, Pete has managed to survive his eight years at Loyola without too many bruises. Quiet and unassuming by nature, he nevertheless possesses a sharp wit and a genuine sense of humour which have won him many friends during his stay at Loyola. Although he has no specific plans for the future it seems safe to assume that Pete is apt to pursue a career in industry. Be it this or any other field, we are certain that his fine personality, good nature and accute intellectual ability will be instrumental in carving for him an enviable position in the years to come.

His unassuming manner has won him many close friends, who appreciate the responsible and serious individual behind the free and easy facade. The successful handling of his undertakings, whether it be the Drama Society, the Finance Committee or his summer work with the C.P.R. reflect Ron's dependability, maturity and hard work. Because of the inconspicuous character of his undertakings, Ron will probably be remembered as a keen skier and sports car enthusiast. After graduation Ron plans a trip to Europe which is long over due. Upon his return he will work towards a C.A. degree then he will probably seek a career in industry.

"The earnestness of life is the only passport to the satisfaction of life."
Rick came to Loyola five years ago as Norandas' gift to Montreals' fairer sex. Though he has excelled on the social scene, Rick possesses myriad qualities which are indeed of great value and worthy note. His abounding energy and intelligence have undoubtedly contributed to the Rick most of us remember as "I'm going to put in a formal complaint . . ." to the man we remember as the highly capable skip of the Varsity Curling Team. Serious, determined, and responsible, he has led himself to exceptional insights into the nature of man. We know Rick's natural ability and deep enthusiasm for Dentistry will rank him among the best in his field.

"A contemporary has said that in this materialistic age of ours the serious scientific workers are the only profoundly religious people." Einstein.

Terry is an eight year man who hopes it won't take any longer than eight years. Although known for his high marks in theology and philosophy he occasionally finds his interest in physics drops off as the mathematical details become more complex. Despite certain reports to the contrary he insists there is a great demand for physicists, although not on the bachelor level. An avid reader on subjects as diversified as astronomy and the American Civil War, Terry will be a credit to Loyola in whatever field he chooses.

LEON MELVIN DESORMEAU

BIO-CHEMISTRY

"People in stone houses should not throw glasses,"

An eight year man at Loyola, Leon first proved his scholastic abilities by earning a four year scholarship. Leon leaves us this year with a record of academic achievement of which he can well be proud. Admired and respected for his intellectual prowess by his fellow classmates, he is well liked in addition for his kind, amicable, and jovial character, "sick jokes" included. His interests vary from good books and philosophical arguments to those folk dances in Chomedy. With such qualities one cannot help but succeed in attaining and practising his chosen profession of medicine. Ave alque salve "Dr." Desormeau.

CHEMISTRY

"Let schoolmasters puzzle their brain with grammer, and nonsense, and learning; good liquor, I stoutly maintain gives genius a better discerning." Samuel Johnson.

Peter came to Loyola after completing his twelveth year at Cardinal Newman High. He has been one "master scientist" around the college not only in his academic field, but also in all other aspects. This is due to Peter's overwhelming personality and friendly smile which has been especially noticeable in his two years on the Carnival Committee. Peter is very interested in politics and has been active on campus in this field. After graduation he plans to obtain his Masters degree in Chemistry. We wish Pete the best of success in his chosen field.

"Most men love to live, yet live to die, but there are few who die to live and live to love." Anonymous.

Roger immigrated from Kingston, Ontario, although some of his classmates kid him about Wolfe Island. In Kingston he attended Regiopolis College and became so fond of the Jesuits that he decided to continue his education at Loyola. Chemistry is field, but wisecracks are his specialty. Roger is Paul's social collaborater at the apartment at 4656, but during the week his domicile is the Science Library. Sometimes when arguing philosophy on behalf of T.A. he becomes confused as to whether he is an artsman or a scienceman. Teaching chemistry is one of his ambitions.

"Tis education forms the common mind: Just as the twig is bent the tree's inclined." Alexander Pope.

Jill, one of the first females to grace Loyola, has become one of its landmarks. After a year at St. Joseph's, she transferred here and has been questioning the wisdom of this move ever since. Noted for her Joan of Arc tendancies in the labs, Jill is rarely seen without a smile (except during fires), standing up well under the relentless kidding. Her ambition is to become a teacher, following in the footsteps of her father. Through the instructorship of the Marianapolis labs she has learned to handle women — but has yet to master the male ego (except when they want advice). Seriously we can be proud to send her into the world as an example of an ideal student.

"A man's wisdom is directly proportional to his capacity for objectivity."

Ross might be classed as Loyola's answer to Ernest Hemmingway. Like Hemmingway, he is amply supplied with unusual views and his stay at Loyola appears only to have helped him to establish a footing in his individualistic path. Besides maintaining a high academic standing, he also managed to devote much time to philosophical reflection, the entertainment of the fairer sex, and investigation of the mysteries surrounding alcoholic beverages (purely scientific, naturally). Ross won't be missed by too many of his friends at Loyola since most of them graduate with him. Ross's statement concerning his future was "no comment". He leaves Loyola a very capable man.

"Justice with right to self-determination for all men is the most urgent of all questions of our time."

Luke was born near Lake Victoria in Kenya where he received his early education. Upon completion of his studies at St. Mary's Yala, he moved to Nairobi where he first became interested in Loyola. His pleasant personality has sparked a sincere interest in Africa amongst his fellow students. On the soccer field his aggresiveness has won him the respect of Loyola's opponents. Canada's cold winters were a new experience to Luke but this was soon offset by the warm hospitality he tells us he encountered. "Great science nobly laboured to increase the people's joys; but every new invention seemed to add another noise."

Peter came to Loyola from St. Thomas High in Pointe Claire. For the past year Pete has been teaching crystallography and instructing the Mineralogy lab. He is an amiable hard working individual who always is willing to lend a hand. He is presently involved in a research project on meteorite craters. Peter hopes to attend graduate school next year and obtain his Master's degree in Geology. He has an insatiable thirst for knowledge as is evidenced by the extra number of courses he managed to fit into his schedule. We wish him the best of luck for the future and no doubt will see him as a teacher soon.

ACTIVITIES: Lab Instructor 4: Research Project 4.

JOHN HUNTER SEELY

CHEMISTRY

"The woods are lovely dark and deep, but I have promises to keep, and miles to go before I sleep." Robert Frost.

John left Loyola High with the conviction that college should be a place of learning and not of entertainment. However, since then he has learned to compromise and sensibly combine the two. John will long be remembered as a student with a natural aptitude for chemistry. Noted for his "restrained" handling of his accident prone scooter, he is slated to plow through his post graduate studies at the same rate. His hobbies include Math 206, and any mechanical tinkerings. John is destined to be a credit both to his chosen field and to Loyola.

ACTIVITIES CIC 3.

JOHN HAROLD SOULE

BIO-CHEMISTRY

Jack is from Sudbury, Ontario where he graduated from Sudbury High School. After a year of Engineering at McGill he came to Loyola and has majored in Biology Chemistry. During this past year Jack has been a part time member of the staff at the Lachine Dorval Y.M.C.A., and intends to make the "Y" a career. This fall he will be starting as Youth Work Secretary in one of the Canadian Y.M.C.A's.

ACTIVITIES: Pre-Medical & Dental 2-4.

GEORGE STESZYN PHYSICS

"Tis education forms the common mind just as the twig is bent, the tree's inclined."

George made his appearance at Loyola after completing the curriculum at Leroux High. Determined and calculating in whatever he does he quickly perceived that Engineering was not to be for him and hence transferred to the field of Physics. His keen competitive spirit, good sense of humour and fine personality will certainly be remembered in a place of many bygone memories. Having credentials such as these, success is the keynote to whatever he undertakes in the future.

ATHLETICS: Intramural Hockey; Football 1-4.

NEIL MARK TOMIUK

CHEMISTRY

"If a man begin with certainties he shall end in doubts; but if he will be content to begin with doubts, he shall end in certainties." Francis Bacon.

Neil came to Loyola from St. Thomas High School in Pointe Claire. He is a quiet reserved young man with serious ambitions of becoming an asset in the field of Chemistry. In all four years he has always been active in interclass sports, and is rated as a valuable player on any team. Interested in folk music, he likes to play the guitar in his spare time. After graduation Neil would like to pursue graduate studies in Chemistry in an American University.

ACTIVITIES: Folk Music Society 3-4. ATHLETICS: Intramural Hockey; Football; Basketball; Volleyball 1-4; Curling 3-4.

ROBERT LOUIS TURCOTTE

"Break, break, break."

Bob came to Loyola from Bishop Whelan High in Lachine. Being basically easy going and good-humored, he has made many friends here. Mr. Hyde turns into a Dr. Jekyl in the lab however, and his superb technique has earned him the nickname of "Crash" by his co-workers and various innocent bystanders. Crash intends to obtain his Bachelor of Education at Ottawa University and to continue his scientific education during his career. Bob leaves Loyola with a desire to learn acquired during his stay, a Thomistic view of life, a relish for truth and look to the future.

ACTIVITIES: CIC 4; Science Students Society President 4. ATHLETICS: Intramural Football; Hockey; Basketball 1-4.

RONALD ERNEST TURCOTTE

HONORS PHYSICS

"Grow old with me! The best is yet to come."

Perhaps Ron's associates at Loyola will remember him most for his rich sense of humour which he used to keep everybody in stiches. His professors will remember him for his fine academic record. What the girls remember him for is his own business. His keen scientific mind should ensure him success in the field of Physics, in which he intends to pursue a Doctorate. Physics is not his academic interest however, as he has delved into social problems (which he hopes to solve with matrices). We wish Ron luck for the future although we don't think he needs it!

ACTIVITIES: Maroon & White 4. ATHLETICS: Bowling 4; Billiards 3-4.

JAMES LEO WALSH

BIO-CHEMISTRY

"A friend is worth all hazards we can run." Young.

James Leo Walsh, better known to his fellow students as Jim, hails from Perth, Ontario. Jim has proven himself over the years to be a conscientious student and a reliable friend. His fine leadership qualities proved to be an asset when he was chosen as one of the first members of the Loyola Honours Society (Maroon & White). His other activities included membership in the Pre-Med & Dental Society. Jim is continuing his studies in Dentistry for which, we believe, he has excellent qualifications. Let us hope that his example will be followed at Loyola in future years. To Jim we wish good luck which we think he deserves.

ACTIVITIES: Pre-Medical & Dental Society 2-4; Maroon & White 3-4; Liberal Club 1-4; Science Society Activity Chairman 4. AWARDS: Loyola College Scholarship 4.

PETER PARE

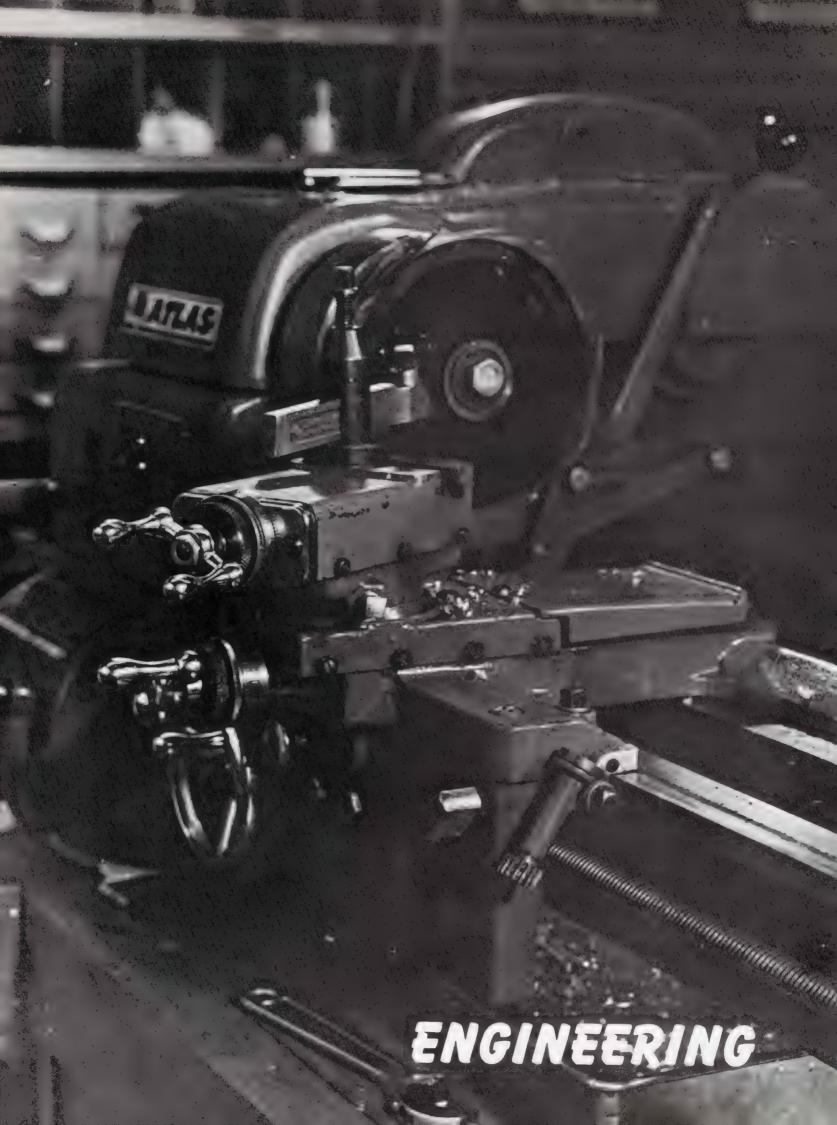

DAVID MORRIS

EMILE KNYSTAUTAS

JACQUES DUSSAULT

RICHARD ALLEN ELECTRICAL

"Promulgating your esoteric cogitations or articulating your superficial philosophical or psychological observations, sedulously avoid all propensity to platitudinous ponderosity."

The "shop-steward", except for a few Grey Cup weekends, has applied his keen intellect and will for the most part to serious study. With a poignant sense of humor and a boundless craving for Pizza, Rick has become distinguished for his leadership qualities, his willingness to assist others, as well as his frank honest answers and rationalistic inquisitive mind. Allen plans to obtain his B. Eng. from McGill and from there set up a T.V. repair shop up North for the Eskimos.

ACTIVITIES: E.I.C. 1-3. AWARDS: Loyola Scholarship 4. ATHLETICS: Intramural Football; Hockey; Swimming 1-4; Bowling 3-4.

CIVIL

"Lonely people build walls instead of bridges."

Jake came to Loyola a "long" time ago. Four years of high weren't enough so he tried Arts. A year later, having realized that people who dwell in Ivory Towers have heads of the same material, Jake was saved by being accepted into the Engineering faculty. He is a man of determined ideas and is well prepared to defend them. He also prefers dumping sailboats for the Varsity team to breaking hockey sticks in the stadium. Jake plans to continue his studies as long as his school bag lasts and the soles of his desert boots wear out. His driving ambition to acquire his degree ensures him success in life.

ACTIVITIES: E.I.C. 1-4; E.U.S. 4, SAC Assembly 2-3. ATHLETICS: Varsity Sailing 3-4; Intramural Hockey; Volleyball 1-4; Football; Swimming 1, 2-4.

MICHEL DURAND CIVIL

"What you can't do today, you won't do tomorrow, so you might as well forget about it."

Mike is an eight year man and while at Loyola his affable personality and sincerity have won him many friends. Probably "Plumber" as he is known to his many friends, will be remembered most on campus for his fine display of talents while working on the ice sculptures and castles during Winter Carnivals. He has spent the last four years in the preparation of conquering the field of Civil Engineering. With his jolly nature and his appreciation of life Mike is certain to make a happy success of his future.

ACTIVITIES: E.I.C. 1-4; L & M Bowling 1-2; Ice Castle Co-ordination 3. ATHLETICS: Intramural Skiing 2-4; Bowling 1-4; Golf 4; Snooker 1-2.

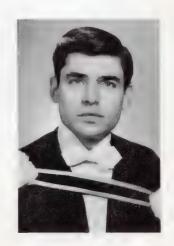

BRIAN GARGANO

CIVIL

"Inspire these youths and talk openly to them."

Brian came from Bishop Whelan High in 1959, and after spending one year in the labour force decided to invest all that he had in an up-growing stock. He came to Loyola in search of a well-rounded education, and this he found in the Engineering faculty where Arts and Science subjects are closely related. Although in his four years Brian took part in many activities, mostly off campus, he has earned the reputation of "quiet man", ready to serve. An easy-going fellow whose friendly smile and genial personality account for his popularity, he cannot help but be successful in whatever he choses after graduation. Le futur t'appartient.

ACTIVITIES: E.I.C. 1-4; Ice Castle 3-4. ATHLETICS: Intramural Football; Hockey 4.

CAMILLO GENTILE CIVIL

"What is mind? What is matter? Never mind. What is the soul? It is immaterial." Hood.

Probably one of the best football players to come to Loyola, "Cam" needs no introduction even to the least athletic of readers. Quiet and unassuming, despite his talent, his popularity is witness to the fact that there can be no substitute for a solid personality. His qualities of leadership were given testament this year when his teammates voted him Varsity Football co-captain after being M.V.P. last year. To a wonderful athlete and a fine friend, we wish the very best of everything in the future.

ACTIVITIES: Bowling L & M 4, E.I.C. 4, Italian Society V-P 3-4; Ice Castle Supervision 4; Ice Castle 3. ATHLETICS: Varsity Football 3-4; Football Commissioner 4; Class Sports Manager 2-4; Co-Captain Varsity Football 4; MVP Varsity Football 3; Intramural Volleyball; Bowling 3-4; Hockey 2-4; Football 2.

MICHAEL BRIAN HIGGERTY

CIVIL

"Twice bitten: four more to chew."

Brian left many friends in Hamilton and Buffalo but after moving to Montreal it wasn't long before his quiet, confident personality and wild sense of humor had made for him an even greater number at Loyola. Intelligence combined with determination have made him a success in school, class sports, and in the social world. The "Higgerty-Caf" theory, which employed the line integral method to prove conclusively that the swiftest way to the Caf was by way of colossed Pizza, caused a storm of excitement in the mathematics world and earned Brian admittance into the Royal Order of Wasps. The "Wasp" plans next to invade the cocoons of McGill where success is virtually assured.

ACTIVITIES: Intramural Hockey; Football; Bowling 2-4.

JEAN-CLAUDE JANNARD

MECHANICAL

"No one knows what he can do until he tries it."

J. Claude came to us three years ago via Mont Saint-Louis College. Always seeking a virid discussion, he has keen and decisive opinions on every subject that arises. His trade mark is his constant good humor and he is known to many as the "keep-smiling" fellow. Always teased, we have not known him to get mad yet. Teaching seems to be his final choice and we are sure that he will be a success at it.

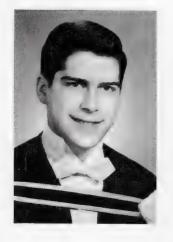

ACTIVITIES: E.I.C. 3-4.

ANDRE G. LAPLANTE

CIVII

"Accept whatever situation you can not improve, improve those you can, and pray that you are wise enough to tell the difference."

Andre came to Loyola all equipped for college life: a set of golf clubs, and a GTO convertible with a ski rack. A product of College Jean de Brebeuf he entered freshman Arts. The following September he saw the light and entered Engineering. He hasn't looked back since. Excelling at anything he undertakes "P'tit Boom" is the Flying Frenchman of the intramural hockey wars, a member of the varsity golf team, and the perennial ski bum at La Reserve. He also finds time to study between car rallys thus keeping his academic standing "par excellence". His well rounded personality and athletic ability have won him the respect and friendship of all his confreres. It is no use to wish him luck since he plotted his road to success in the Survey lab and no power will change it. ACTIVITIES: E.I.C. 1-4, E.U.S. 4. ATHLETICS: Varsity Golf 3-4. Intramural Hockey 1-4; Golf 1-2; Volleyball 2-3; Bowling 3.

JOHN LUKOSEVICIUS MECHANICAL

"You can get out of life only what you put into it."

Luke came to Loyola via Maine's St. Anthony's High. This is one man who will definitely not be forgotten by friends and faculty alike. A firm believer in cementing Canadian-Lithuanian relations, Luke can be found discussing these problems with the fairer sex in some dark corner of the "Scan", U. of M., or in the Dean's office while bargaining for a pass! Excellent relationship reports have been numerous. To those who really know Luke well, he is a man of solid character and great potential. While leading a "good life" Luke still finds time to dabble in his Mechanical Engineering. Loyola will never be the same when he leaves.

ACTIVITIES: E.I.C. 1-4; Band 2, 3. ATHETICS: Intramural Basketball 1, 2, 3; Football 1; Tennis 1, 2.

JAMES McAVOY ENGINEERING

"We do not learn wisdom, but to pass examinations."

Jim came to Loyola as a sophmore from Cardinal Newman High School. His readiness to help others and his genuine friendliness has made him a multitude of friends during his stay here; unfortunately this is in proportion to his yearly loss of hair. Although Jim has not thoroughly mastered the intricacies of skiing, his natural talent and co-ordination he has displayed in class hockey no doubt will soon curtail all future "carnival" sprains. Also, except for his patronage of the Black Hawks, Jim has always exhibited good sense and a keen intelligence in his social as well as academic life. His congenial personality, good sense of humor and smooth sales pitch will undoubtedly serve him well in his future years. After graduating Jim plans to achieve his B. Eng. in electrical engineering at McGill.

ATHLETICS :Intramural Sports: Hockey 2-4; Bowling 2-4.

THOMAS McHALE ENGINEERING

"There is something still more to be dreaded than a Jesuit, that is a Jesuitess."

Tom better known as "the beard" to his fellow classmates, came to Loyola via Cardinal Newman High. Active in intramural sports and forever in a cheerful frame of mind, he has won friends easily. His willingness to lend a helping hand has been one of his trademarks. For the past two years Tom has been instrumental in the construction of the ice castle. His avid interest in, and his knowledge of, the engineering field assure Tom of success in his chosen career. The next two years will see Tom pursuing a B. Eng. at McGill University.

ATHLETICS: Intramural Football 2-4; Basketball 2-4; Swimming 3-4; Bowling 2-3; Volleyball 2-4; Jr. Varsity Basketball 2-3,

GLENN PETER MORRISON

CHEMICAL

"Nothing is impossible until you've tried it."

A man of small stature but of big ability, Glenn came to Loyola from St. Willibrord High School and Loyola's EIC has never been the same. In his first year he rushed headlong into the EIC executive and graduates as its chairman. The future EUS is much of his doing. Glenn values sleep more than most people, he sees no point in nine o'clock classes and revels in the stink of an afternoon Chem lab. A good natured person he combines all possible assets into a personality which has won him many friends at Loyola. His unselfishness and willingness to help others, contributed to the success of other graduates. Glen will definitely succeed in his chosen field if he doesn't poison himself in some company's Chem lab.

ACTIVITIES: F.R.A. 2, E.I.C. Sec.-Treasurer 1, Vice-Chairman 2, Chairman 4. ATHLETICS: Intramural Basketball 1-4; Football 2-4; Hockey 4.

KEVIN JOHN O'CONNELL

MECHANICAL

"With a good conscience our only sure reward, with history the final judge of our deeds, let us go forth to lead the land we love, asking His blessing and His help, but knowing that here on earth God's worth must truly be our own."

ACTIVITIES: Vice-President Electronics Club; Secretary-Treasurer E.I.C.; Photo Club; President of Loyola Engineering Undergraduate Society; Handbook. ATHLETICS: Intramural Football.

VICTOR JOHN RUPSYS

CHEMICAL

"Be not simply good — be good for something."

Vic came to Loyola from St. Willibrord High School, the intelligence center of Little Lithuania. In between teaching his native language to close friends (applying for citizenship papers) and bouncing the basketball Vic even finds time for lectures and hockey. "Why not? . . . I don't fool around." Vic, an active member of the E.I.C., is always willing to help, if it isn't against his principles. His heart, as big as his sense of humour, has won him many friends during his stay at Loyola. If you can't find him in the gym, he is either cooking up something smelly on the third floor, or burning a letter to the editor in the CAF; Vic has his own ideas but is very interested in yours, he wants to find out what is wrong with them. With him will go 50 of the chemical engineering department. This happy-go-lucky man will go far despite himself. Best of luck to him.

ACTIVITIES: Intramural Hockey; Basketball; Football.

ELECTRICAL

"No man is an island."

TREVOR STEPHEN SUMMERS

When Trevor came to Loyola three years ago, his lively Caribbean charm won him instant popularity. Known and respected by his fellow engineers for his maturity and serious work, "Trev" brought his talent to the Varsity Soccer Team with which he played for three seasons, culminating in his being elected the Most Valuable Player this year. Despite his academic and athletic commitments Trevor has never lost sight of his responsibilities as one of the first Jamaican students on campus, and his warm personality has been influential in West Indian affairs at Loyola. After graduation Trevor plans to study electrical engineering for two more years, probably away from Montreal much to the regret of the many friends he has at the College. Good Luck Man!

ACTIVITIES: Honors Engineering Society; E.I.C.; Sports; Soccer: Most Valuable Player.

FRANS HUBERT THIJSSEN

CIVIL

"Smoothest ice, A paradise, To him is a dancer nice." Nietzsche.

In his years at Loyola, Frank has acquired a large number of friends who admire him not only for his good humor, but also for his active and stimulating mind. A native of Aruba, Frank has adjusted to Canada both socially and weather wise. His interests range far beyond his own field of engineering. He has a passion for music, art, literature, and philosophy. In the latter he has shown not only a deep interest but also a great deal of "Insight". He is in fact, to debate with all comers on the subject. Frank plans to go into architecture, and displays a knowledge not only of its engineering elements, but is well informed on its aesthetic aspects. Whatever Frank's future, the best wishes of all his friends go with him.

ACTIVITIES: UMUM 2-4; Sir George Conference 2; IAS 1-3; News Staff Writer 2-3

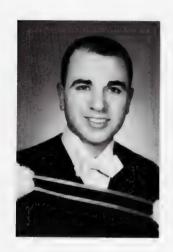

EVENING

SYLVAIN BOYER ACCOUNTING

Born and raised in Dorval, Sylvain entered Piche Academy in Lachine after having attended elementary school in Dorval. With his Senior Matric completed he entered Loyola as a day student in 1950. Sylvain is presently employed by of the board of revision concerning Sales Tax Service. In addition to being a member of good standing in such organizations as the Knights of Columbus the Provincial Government's Department of Revenue where he is a member and the Dorval Chamber of Commerce, Sylvain also plays football and hockey for his office. Now that he has completed his B. Comm. with a major in Accounting we wish him continued success in his many endeavours.

GEORGE FORCILLO

"Keep some measure in the joy you take in luck, and the degree you give way to sorrow. All life is up and down like this." Archilochus.

George has been teaching for the Montreal Catholic School Commission for six years. He graduated from St. Joseph's Teachers' College in 1960, and from there entered Loyola's Evening Division. An avid golfer, George also finds time to enjoy a little bowling or tennis in his leisure time. We wish him continued success in his pursuit for a Master's in Education which he will begin studying for this fall.

JOSEPH F. GALLAGHER

"Only through perseverance is the Goal attained."

Joseph is a native of Montreal having been born here in 1938. After leaving St. Leo's Academy in Westmount, he entered the Redemptorist novitiate in Woodstock, Ontario. Following three years at Holy Redeemer College in Windsor he has since married and is the happy father of a six month old son. A teacher since the past four years Joseph is now on the staff at St. Patrick of the Island School, Pincourt. We wish him continued success in his chosen vocation.

FERDINAND HOEHN

"Aim high; the sky is the limit."

Having graduated from D'arcy McGee High in 1957 Ferdinand entered St. Joseph's Teachers' College from whence he graduated in 1960. Loyola's Evening Division has been the scene of his academic pursuits since the fall of that year. Ferdinand has been teaching History and French to third and fourth year high students for the past few years. Cardinal Newman High is his present employer and he plans to stay there while studying for a Master's in either History or Languages. If his favorite quotation is any indication of his ambition we feel assured of his being successful in his continued studies.

STEVEN KORDA

Born in Hungary in 1939, Steven came to Canada in 1952. After graduating from Sir George Williams Evening High School he entered Loyola. He is presently managing "Korda Cameras" which is a photographic store of considerable prestige. Most of Steven's spare time is spent either in the classroom or in the library. An avid skier, swimmer and tennis man, Steven nevertheless finds time to practice his hobby which is naturally, photography. His immediate ambition is to enter the study of law, and perhaps specialize in International Law, which has always fascinated him. With his degree as the base for his pyramid we wish him continued success.

PATRICIA CASEY MAGUIRE

Mrs. Maguire completed two years towards a B.A. degree at McGill prior to attending the Evening Division at Loyola. The proud mother of a handsome two-year old son, Mrs. Maguire's studies at Loyola set a wonderful example for her son to follow in the future. We somehow think that next St. Patrick's Day the pot of Shamrocks will be competing for a place of honor in this Irish home with a certain Latin inscribed Diploma. We wish Patricia continued happiness and success in her future undertakings.

THOMAS MOLLOY

BUSINESS

Tom came to Loyola from D'arcy McGee and completed a major portion of his degree in the day division. He then heeded the call to join the working class and the Evening Division to pursue his remaining credits. His genuine friendliness and affable personality has won him many friends at Loyola and in the business world. During his stay at these hallowed halls of learning, his keen interest in business and college activities, athletic and otherwise, have combined to determine for him his life work which, no doubt, will be a success.

HERVELYNE PION ENGLISH

"And they shall know the truth and the truth will make them free."

Hervelyne was born in Saskatchewan on a very stormy Friday night in March, and grew up on a farm near Saskatoon, the pampered last member of a family of twelve. She then graduated from the prud'homme High School under the direction of the Daughters of Providence, who later were instrumental in her coming East. After leaving Teachers' College in Saskatoon she taught in Saskatchewan and in B.C. The Pointe Claire and Beaconsfield School Commission have been the employers of Hervelyne for most of her fourteen years stay in Quebec. An English course given by Loyola in 1957 attracted Hervelyne with the sole purpose of enjoyment, but as fate would have it she is now on her way to a Master's in Education. Our best wishes for continued success in her academic endeavours.

EDWARD SIEDLAK CHEMISTRY

"The most valuable result of all education is the ability to make yourself do the thing you have to do, when it ought to be done, whether you like it or not."

A product of Cardinal Newman High School, Edward attended Loyola as a day student for two years before he started to work as a Chemist. Presently employed with Pfizer Company Ltd. he is putting his studies to the practical test. While a day student Edward was elected secretary of the CIC in 1963. With his B.Sc. in hand and some experience behind him we know that Edward knows what he wants and we wish him luck in his chosen field.

Leafing through Review '65 will no doubt bring back to mind a myriad of events and many poignant memories of the past school year. For some it will have been the first year at Loyola while for others the last. We on the Review staff have tried to capture for you, forever, the colorful swirl of college life. There is much to remember. Who could forget the hectic rush of registration, the crisp fall and football, the gaiety of the carnival, the magic of the drama, the hubbub of the cafeteria or all the other multiplicity of activities which are so much a part of Loyola. Yet, there is the other, much more important part of Lovola which the Review cannot capture so readily. The many hours . . . spent in class or at the library, the studying, the labs and seminars which are so necessary if we wish to achieve success and finally, graduation. To those who have reached this pinnacle may they go from Loyola enhanced with its spirit and fully aware of the meaning of cooperation and responsibility which is so necessary throughout college and throughout our later life.

To present Review '65 to you has been a source of pride for me. It would be an understatement to say that there were no bumps along the way but this is all part of the interesting aspect of publishing a year-book. Thanks to the core of my staff Eamonn, to the editors, Bob, Lou, Stephanie, Mary, Jim and Jim.

This then is Review '65, we sincerely hope you enjoy it and will continue to do so in the many years to come.

John B. MacDougall Editor-in-Chief
